MAKING THE GRADE

With all the talk about how a school's academic standing has a bearing on conference expansion and realignment, we decided to post each school's ranking (from the six automatic BCS qualifying conferences and Notre Dame) according to the US News & World Report, Center for Measuring University Performance. We also included each schools ranking as far as federal research expenditures. All schools are representing their 2011 conference affiliations.

Beginning with the 1936 season, the Associated Press began to poll a select group of beat writers and media that covered college football on a regular basis to see who they thought was the best team in college football each week. Then in 1950 the United Press decided to poll active college football coaches to see who they felt was the best team every week. On this page we list all of the teams that were selected as the National Champions by the AP Media Poll (1936-2010) and the UPI (1950-1990) & USA Today (1991-2010) Coaches Poll.

* From 1936-1964 and 1966-1967 the AP National Champion was selected prior to the bowl games. In 1965 and from 1968-2010 all the AP National Champions were voted on after the bowl games were played.

* The Coaches poll also selected their National Champion prior to the bowl games from 1950-1973. Beginning in 1974 the Coaches Poll began voting for their National Champion after the bowl games.
